Grossarlal: Holidays in the Mountains

Hikers, mountain bikers, skiers and nature lovers are all welcomed here with open arms.

Grossarlal lies 70 km south of Salzburg, the beloved “city of Mozart.” The two towns of Grossarl and Hüttschlag are nestled in the heart of a magical alpine world between the Hohe and Niedere Tauern ranges.

Grossarl, 924 m

Stroll through this idyllic town, discovering just how laid-back and hospitable the locals truly are. Looking for more action? In that case, hit the slopes, pull on your hiking boots, or hop onto your bike – Grossarl is the ideal starting point for all of your sporting activities.

Hüttschlag, 1.020 m

You will find this small mountaineering village a little deeper into the valley, with the town center directly across from the striking Hüttschlag Wand. Particularly eye-catching: the picturesque valley head, which is also part of Hohe Tauern National Park. If you are looking for peace & quiet and love the mountains, Hüttschlag is the ideal holiday spot for you.

From Guest to Friend

Shoulder-to-shoulder, listen to music, dance, laugh, and enjoy a drop or two to drink – festivals and special events are an integral part of our annual calendar here in Grossarlal. In the course of the year, you will be able to attend festivities staged by many different local groups, letting you experience folk traditions first-hand. In a world such as this, no wonder that holiday guests quickly become friends.

Why the “Valley of Mountain Huts”?

Quite simply:

In summer, there are some 40 mountain huts in Grossarlal that cater to the needs of passersby. Such a concentration and quality of mountain huts is unique in Salzburg province, and most likely in all of Austria as well.

Valley of Mountain Huts

Why do snacks at a mountain hut taste especially good?

Have you ever eaten a „Jause“ up at a hut? In that case, you will have noticed just how good it tasted. And why? Because the fresh bread and flavorful cheeses were produced and served with an abundance of hard work and love. Of course, with those mountains in front of you, the clanging of cowbells in the background, and the fresh mountain air all around you, how could it possibly not taste delicious?

If you would like to take a little of this flavor home with you, then we have this great tip: The hut hosts and hill farmers are more than happy to reveal their secret recipes to you. Why not put together your own personal “holiday cookbook.”

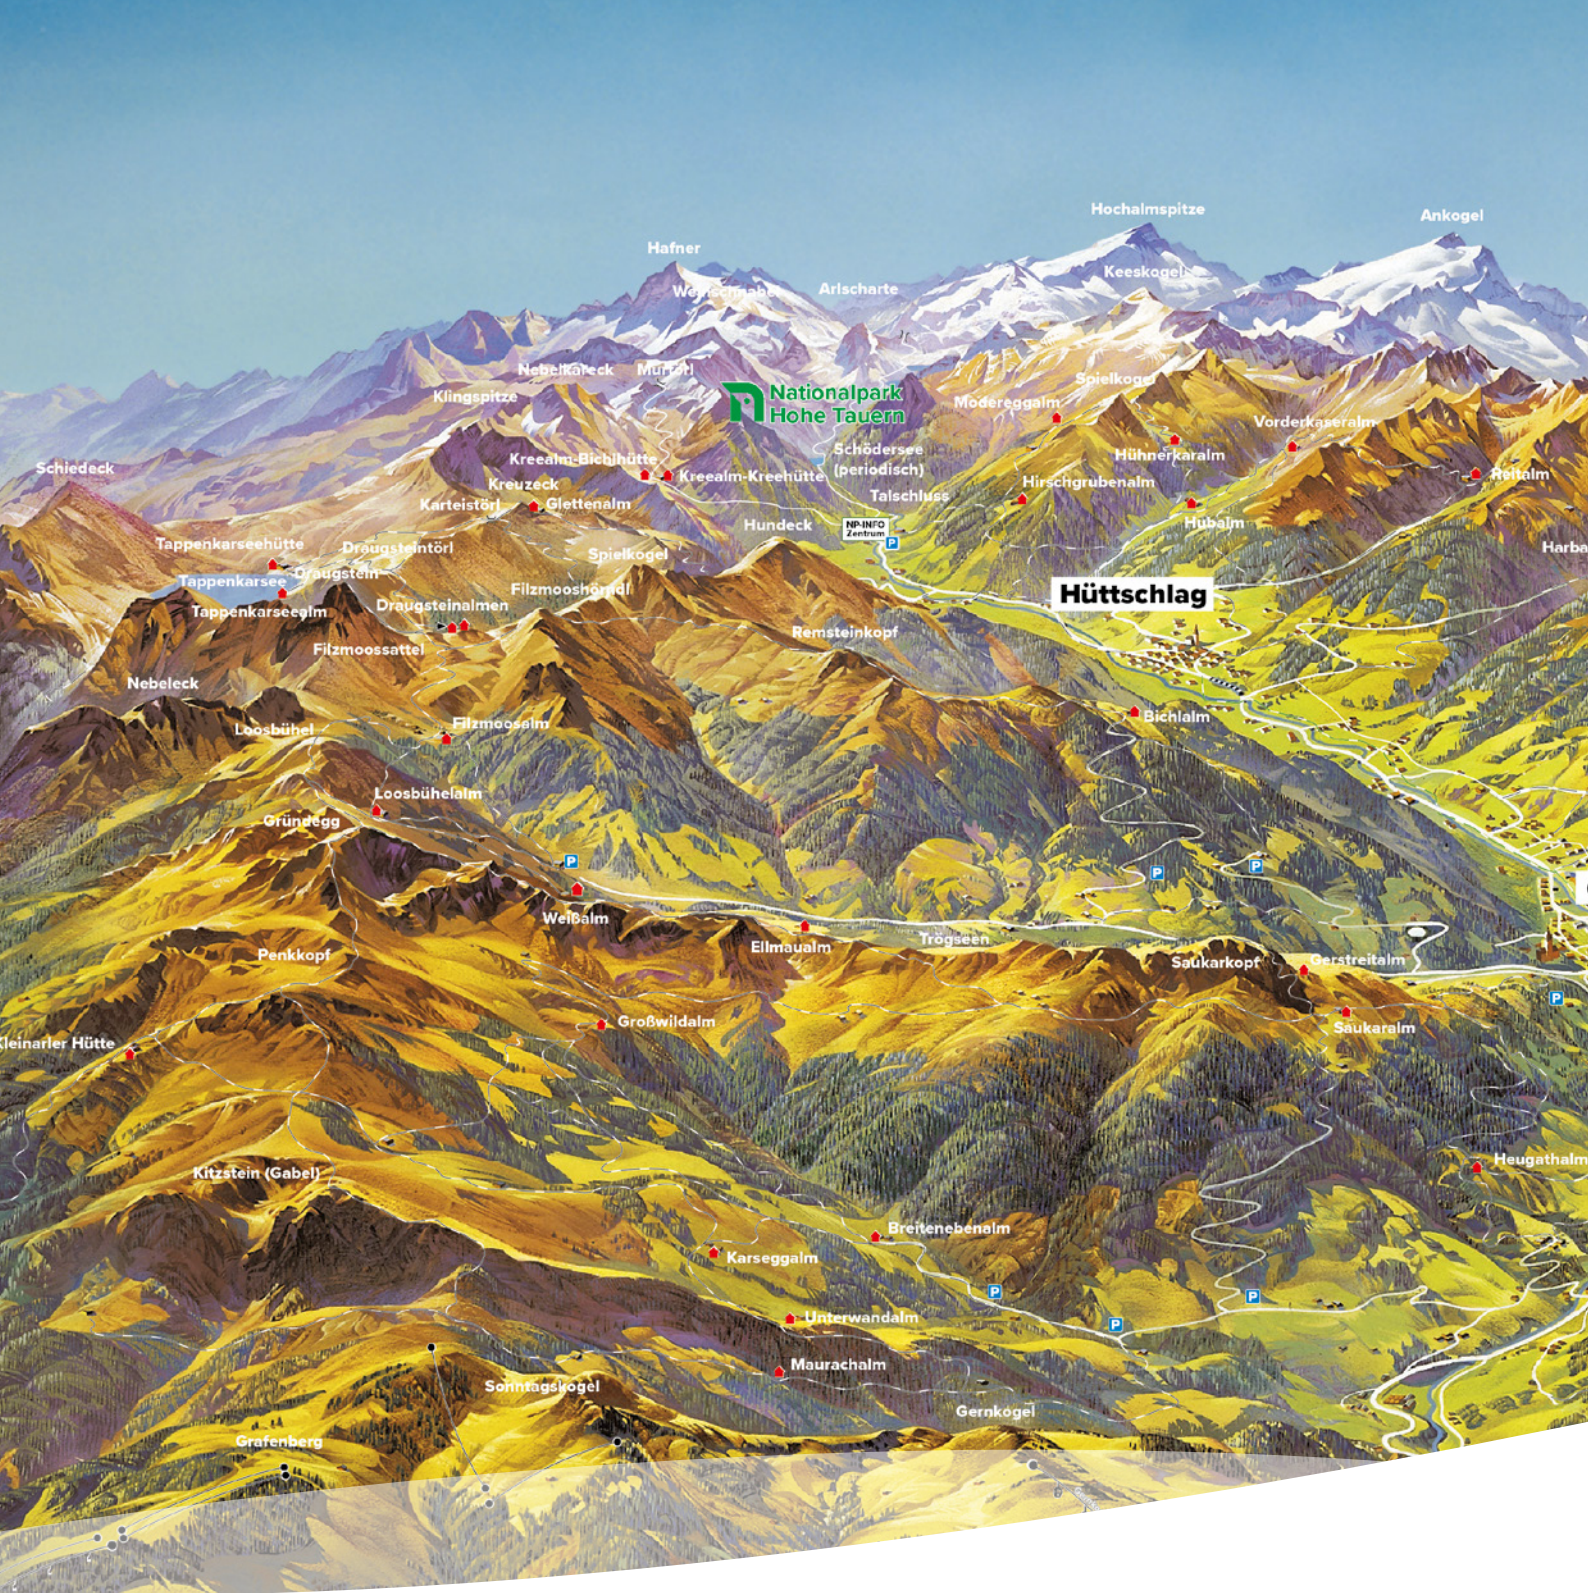

Out with the mundane – in with nature

There you are, sitting in front of a rustic mountain hut wrapped up in a warm blanket. The stars light up the night sky and you hear the water babbling from the spring nearby. Far removed from the stresses of the daily grind, at a mountain hut you can enjoy life to the fullest. If you are looking for total relaxation and authenticity, you should definitely spend a night up at a mountain hut and experience the life of a hill farmer for yourself.

„Sauakas“ Cheese

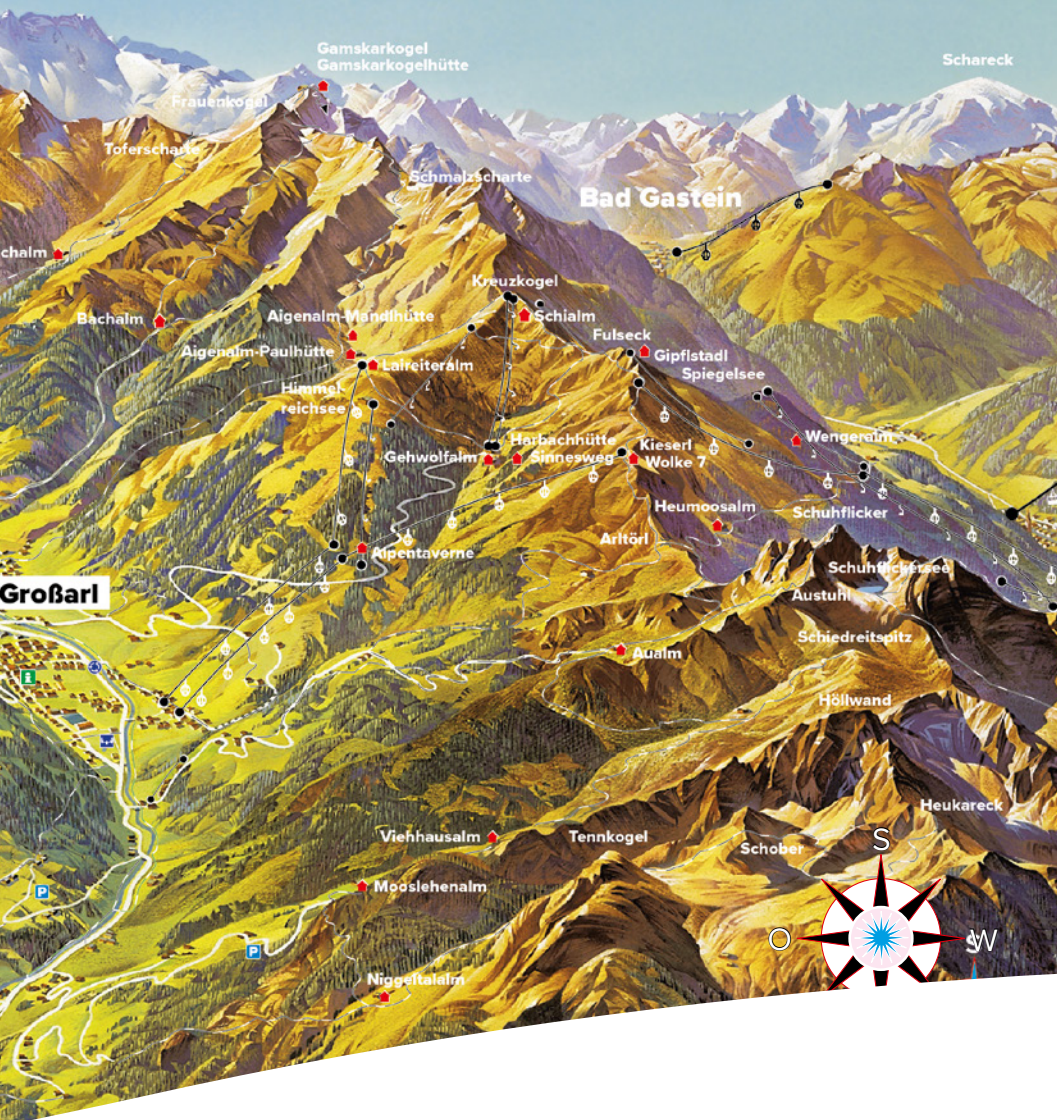

This is a cheese associated with Grossarlal and, for the most part, only produced here with us. It is a kind of cheese commonly referred to as “gray cheese,” made from skimmed, very low-fat milk. Practically every hut has its own secret recipe for making it, which is why “Sauakas” always tastes a little bit different from one hut to the next.

Summits & Mountain Lakes

The most beautiful destinations for hikers, mountaineers & trail runners

5 a.m. Out of bed, into the hiking boots, and up the mountain. It is still dark, and completely silent on the summit. Yet gradually, the entire mountain world becomes bathed in red, gold and orange. It feels as if time, for just a brief moment, stands still.

Captivated by this natural spectacle, you continue to a small alpine tarn. It looks like a painting, with the first rays of sunshine shimmering upon the crystal-clear water. You hear the birds twittering quietly, and colorful butterflies flutter weightlessly across the flower-strewn meadows.

Spring

The snow melts, the first spring flowers sprout, and the sun beams from the sky. High time, in other words, to lace up your hiking boots and pack your rucksack. The end of June also marks the start of the rhododendron blossom in Grossarlal. Watch nature growing before your eyes, feel yourself blossom right along with the flowers, and enjoy the astonishing splendor of springtime.

Alpine Summer

Lush, green meadows, sunshine, and mountains – Alpine Summer in Grossarlal is absolutely beautiful. Life has returned to the high pastures. The temperatures are rising, you hear the jangle of cowbells close to the hut. In summer, hikers are able to enjoy the cool air on the mountain, the shaded places in the forest, and the comfy, sunny terraces in front of the huts.

Nationalpark[®] Hohe Tauern

Discover the National Park

Hear the babbling of water, feel the sun on your face, gaze in awe at the landscape with its mighty peaks. During a walk to the valley head in Hüttschlag, you will discover one small part of the vast 1856 km² Hohe Tauern National Park, established in 1981 in order to protect the beauty of nature and places like these. When the National Park was expanded in 1991, Hüttschlag was designated a National Park Village.

So Close to Heaven

In Grossarl, the community is deeply rooted in traditions, customs, and also faith. This is why you will find so many chapels, crosses, and wayside shrines here. Each of these special places has its own unique story to tell.

Chapel Hiking Path

The Chapel Hiking Path connects 11 chapels and the parish churches of Grossarl and Hüttschlag. It invites you to see life from a very special perspective.

Bible Trail

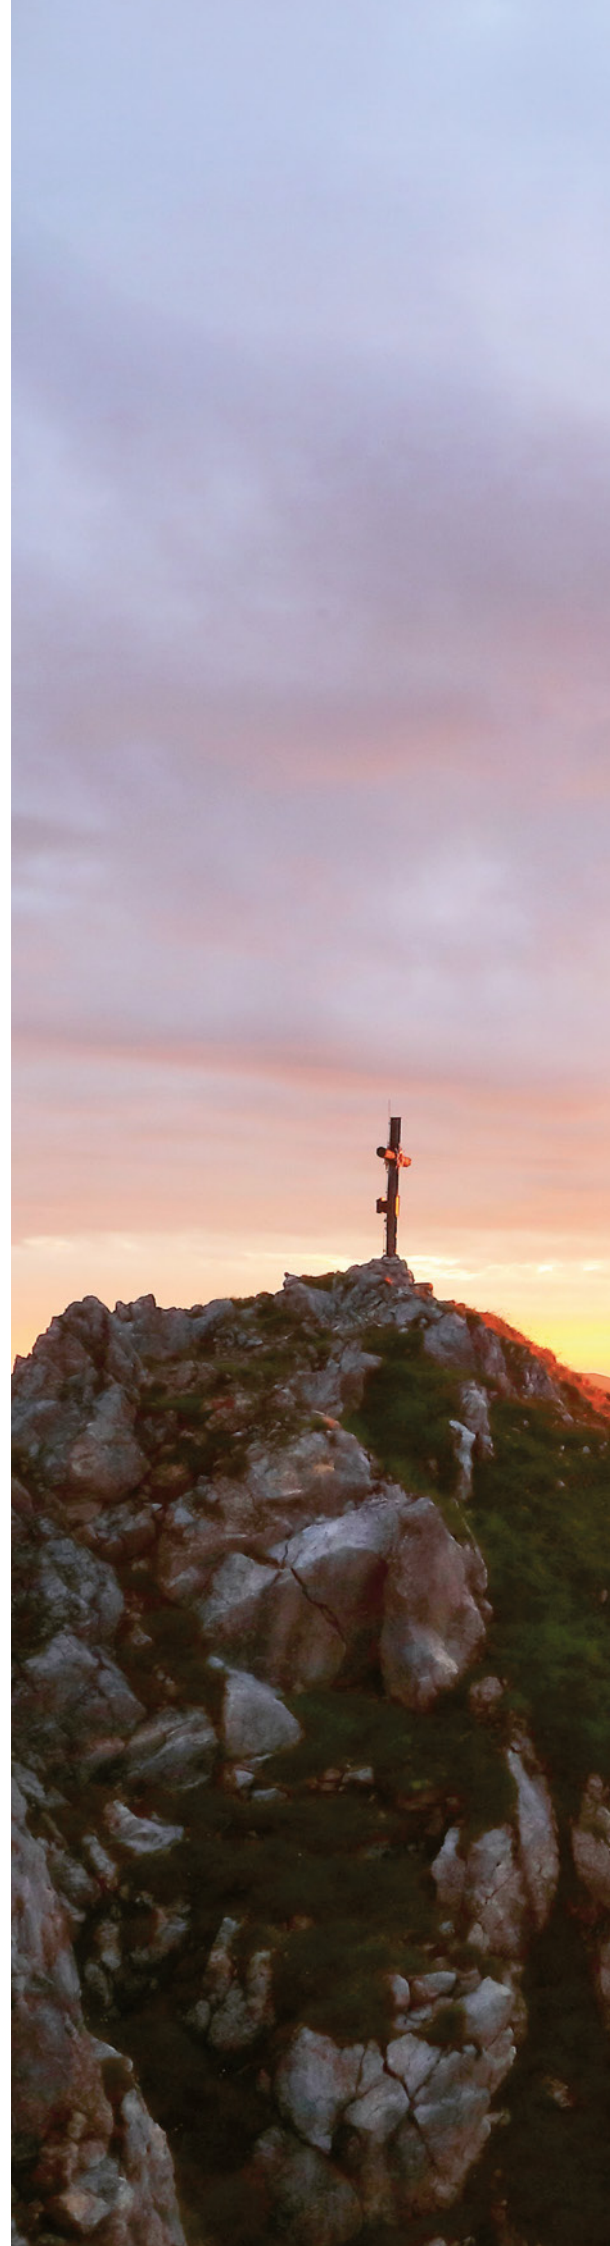

Near the farm shop at the end of Hüttschlag valley, various scenes from the Old Testament are depicted in small display huts. A little farther up, you will find a life-sized Nativity scene, a Way of the Cross, and a life-sized depiction of the Crucifixion of Christ.

Way of the Cross

At the entrance to Grossarl, this special place was built with meticulous craftsmanship by Georg Gruber (“Maurer Schorsch”). In the midst of nature, in a small clearing in the forest, stand the Hubertus Chapel and five smaller chapels depicting the Way of the Cross.

Summit Crosses

After a strenuous climb to the summit, you will be rewarded with breathtaking views, and more. Many mountains feature a summit cross. These crosses once served as boundary markers and navigation points. Today, they increasingly hold religious significance or serve as memorials.

Bio Energy

The biomass heating plant in Grossarl was established in 1988 and has been continuously modernized to integrate the latest technology. Today, it supplies heat energy to around 350 buildings and generates electricity for the equivalent of 950 households. The wood chips used come from local sawmills, carpentry shops, and forest owners, saving approximately 9,000 tons of CO₂ annually compared to conventional energy sources.

Regionality

The Valley of Mountain Huts exemplifies excellent cooperation between tourism and (alpine) agriculture. Local products are produced by farmers at mountain huts and in the valley. The mission of Genuss Region Grossarl is to process and market regional foods. Strict controls, short transport routes, and the freshness of the products are key quality criteria. And you can clearly taste the difference!

Nature & Environmental Protection

Sustainable practices ensure the future for generations to come

In Harmony with Nature

Pristine nature is our most valuable asset. To preserve it, a sustainable lifestyle is essential. In Grossarl, great store is placed on careful interaction with nature. The mountaineering village of Hüttschlag is even part of Hohe Tauern National Park, which is dedicated to nature conservation.

Best Drinking Water

The purest mountain spring water can be enjoyed not only high up in the mountains, but also from every tap in Grossarl.

Clean Hydropower

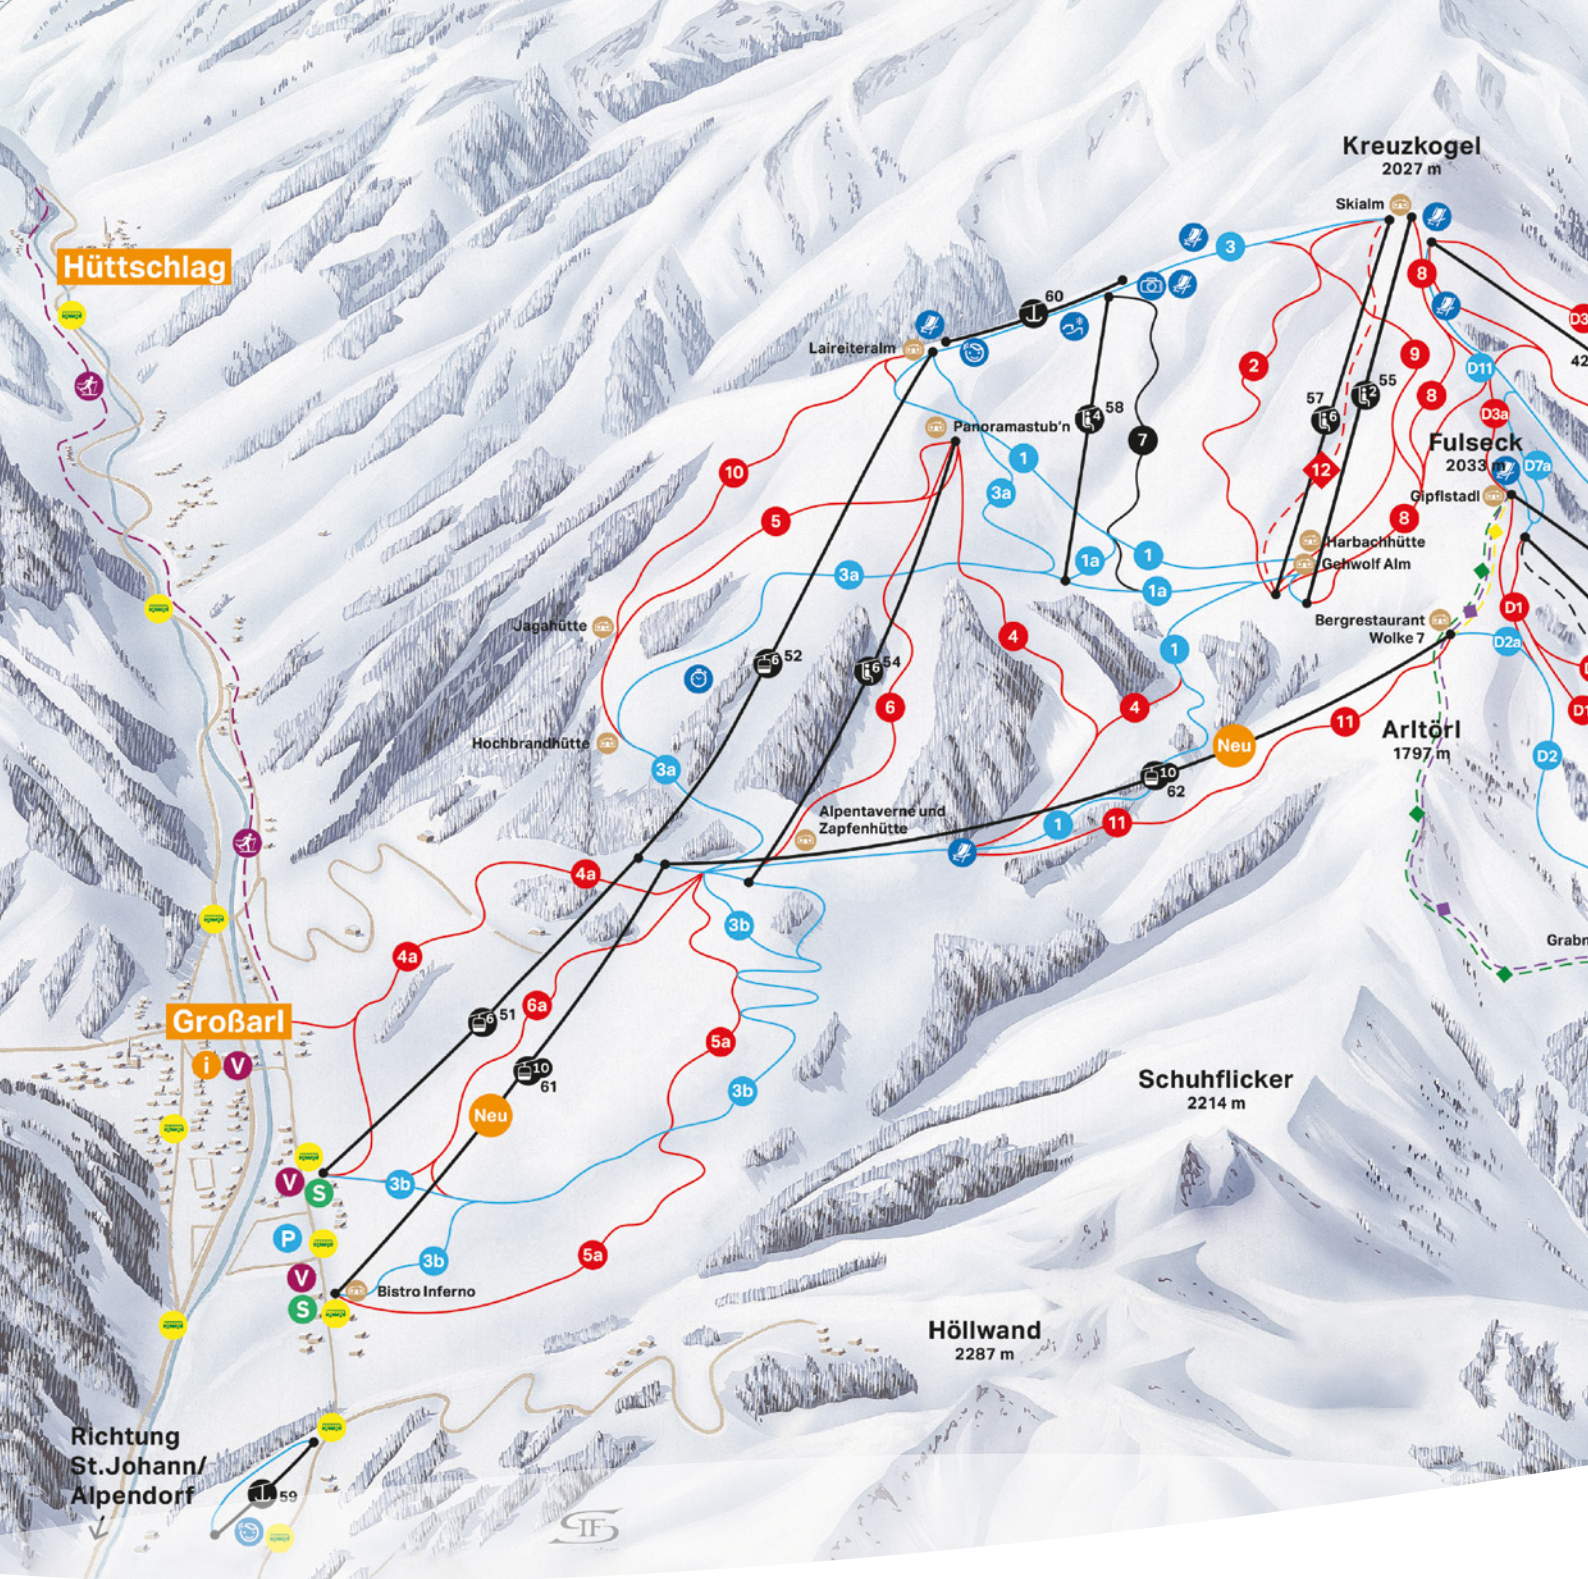

The water from the Grossarler Ache and its numerous tributaries powers a total of 13 small hydroelectric plants. Together, they generate more electrical energy than the valley consumes, and are completely CO₂-neutral.

Public Transportation

With the guest card, you can travel on all bus lines in Grossarl for a fixed price of only € 1.00 per person per trip. Winter sports enthusiasts can take the free ski bus to the lifts, cross-country trails, and starting points for winter hikes and ski tours. In summer, our hiking taxi carries you to the most popular trailheads for a low set fare. This way, your car can take a bit of a „vacation“ too.
